57 Restaurants Shut All Day.

All the inspectors working for the State Food Commission and the Federal Food Board spent their entire day yesterday camping on the trail of the fifty-seven varieties of eating places which were directed to keep their doors closed and refrain from business from 12 o'clock last night. The twenty-four hour shutdown was the penalty for serving beef and pork on the preceding Tuesday in violation of a rule which all had been warned they must obey. Up to last evening the investigators had reported to P. A. Johann, head of the bureau of complaints, that "all was well."

"I do not believe there has been any violation of this order," Mr. Johann said. "Our inspectors made frequent visits to each of the stores. Undoubtedly this closing up of offenders will have a salutary effect on others who are known to have been careless."

Each of the fifty-seven was compelled to keep posted on his front door or front window a printed sign explaining that this good of this country things just as in times past this country things just as in times past this country things just as in times past this country things in times past this country things in the sealed with a typical American college cheer when he appeared before the students of the students of Bigger Production and Decreased Consumption Cause.

WASHINGTOON, March 12 .- Evidence that the public made general response to the Food administration's appeal for increased production and decreased consumption of meat is shown in statistics furnished the Food Administration to-day by the Department of Agriculture.

Meat animals in the United States increased by 6,300,000 in the year ended January 1, 1918, the increase consisting of 1,247,000 cattle, 3,781,000 hogs and 1,284,000 sheep. 1,284,000 sheep. Inspections of beef for slaughter in-

Prices paid for meat animals were higher than ever before. The average price of beef advanced 22.1 per cent, from $9.50 per 100 pounds in 1916, to $11.60 in 1917. Hogs advanced from $9.60 to $15.10, a total of 57 per cent, and sheep increased 40 per cent, from $7.85 to $11.

Wheat conservation and the problem of farm labor occupied the attention of forty-three State food administrators who conferred to-day with officials of the Food Administration. The conference will continue through Thursday.

In discussing fixed prices for April milk it was suggested that a cut be made in the price of grade B to the consumer from 1415 cents to 13 cents a quart, the farmer to accept in the neighborhood of 6 cents a quart from the distributer and the distibuter to suffer no reduction in his distributing costs. The dairymen rebelled at this, saying they saw no reason why the farmer should have to bear all the burden. It is understood that the distributers insisted their costs couldn't come down, and that's all there was to it. Unless the producers and the distrib-nters do get together in formulating an amended agreement to be presented to Mr. Hoover, it is believed their old time warfare will be revived.
